

THEOLOGICAL FOUNDATIONS

One Priority

“‘Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind.’ This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like it: ‘Love your neighbor as yourself.’”

MATT. 22:37-39, NIV

Three Relational Motives

Move kids to love God by inciting wonder.

Move kids to love life by provoking discovery.*

Move kids to love others by fueling passion.

*In the High School Phase, the PASSION dial is turned all the way up.

Nine Core Insights

Design of God's Creation

What I see around me reveals a Creator who cares about me.

Identity based on God's Image

I am created in the image of God and have unique potential and worth.

Connection because of God's Love

I live in pursuit of an infinite God who desires an eternal relationship with me.

Faith in God's Son

I believe in Jesus and will continue to trust Him even when life doesn't make sense.

Transformation by the power of God's Spirit

God's Spirit is transforming my unique and imperfect life into the character of Jesus.

Truth according to God's Message

What Jesus said and did impacts how I should respond to God's Word in my everyday life.

Restoration through participating in God's Story

I am designed to participate in God's story to restore a broken and hurting world.

Compassion that reflects God's Character

My faith in Christ is revealed by my compassion and care for others.

THEOLOGICAL FOUNDATIONS

Three Basic Truths

In the high school years, teens are deepening and personalizing their faith.

I will trust what Jesus did to transform who I need to become.

I'm created to pursue a relationship with my Creator.

I exist to demonstrate God's love to those around me.

PHASE

The High School Phase

Ninth–Twelfth Grade

→ What is a phase?

A phase is a timeframe in a kid’s life when you can leverage distinctive opportunities to influence their future.

At each phase, your job is simple . . .

Know what can be expected of them and know how they think so they will hear what you say and know what to do.

→ Thinks like . . .

A high schooler thinks like a philosopher.

Philosophers seem to understand what is unseen and what cannot be measured.

Like philosophers, high schoolers learn best through open debate, multiple perspectives, and applied reasoning. Rather than memorizing what they think, they can be inspired to consider how they think and why they believe. That’s why providing a safe community to explore big questions about life is essential to learning.

→ How They Relate to God . . .

God’s story empowers my story.

Teenagers who think like philosophers look for principles that will give their story meaning. They relate to a God who guides their decisions, promotes love and forgiveness, empowers their freedom, enables them to live more fully, moves them toward a greater purpose, and connects them to a bigger story.

→ Wants to know . . .

In high school, teenagers refine their unique abilities and develop a sense of purpose.

The way a high schooler resolves the “where,” “why,” “how,” and “what” questions of life provides a compass for navigating their future direction.

The best way to resolve a high schooler’s relational questions is to mobilize their potential.

Where do I belong?

Freshmen are looking for a new tribe. When adults connect teens with similar interests, teens value community.

Why should I believe? Why can’t I?

Sophomores want to challenge the limits. When adults listen carefully and respond with questions, teens clarify values.

How can I matter?

Juniors are ready to make a difference—now. When adults provide consistent opportunities to lead and serve, teens refine skills.

What will I do?

Seniors want to know where they are headed. When adults encourage experiences and simplify options, teens create vision.

TOPIC

SERIES DESCRIPTION

This series encourages high schoolers to consider how to follow Jesus and navigate political tension and challenges them with a few important questions: Do you see the person on the other side of your view as sacred? Do you see that person as an image bearer of God, with innate worth and dignity? And do you view that person with reverence and treat them with incredible respect regardless of their political persuasion, party, or stance? The way of Jesus means people are more important than policy.
